Humanism

The Great Human Detective Story

A British Humanist Association video featuring

Jaye Griffiths George Melly Claire Rayner

Britain's first Humanist video, this 21-minute film introduces 2,500 years of non-religious ethics in an up-to-date format. Covering Humanist values and morality; why Humanists do not believe in God; a cliff-top wedding and a funeral without God; the Humanist approach to education; how Humanists explain 'life ... the universe ... everything ...'

Humanism — The Great Human Detective Story

"Informative, challenging and visually attractive — this film outlines the principles of Humanism in a lucid and entertaining way."
Joe Jenkins, author of "Contemporary Moral Issues"

"Humanism — The Great Human Detective Story" is ideal for anyone wanting a straightforward and lively account of the Humanist approach to life's central questions. Suitable for all ages, this video is also an excellent teaching aid for Religious Education, Personal and Social Education, or General Studies classes. Teachers and schools may ask for a free set of Teaching Notes to accompany the film.

"I hope it will have a wide showing in schools all over the country"
Ludovic Kennedy, broadcaster and writer.

"Students will be left in no doubt about the fundamentals of Humanism by this colourful and challenging video."
Brian Gates, Deputy Chair RE Council of England and Wales.

Only £10 including post and packing from:

British Humanist Association (Regd. Charity 285987)
14 Lamb's Conduit Passage, London WC1R 4RH.

To the British Humanist Association:
Please send me the BHA video
'Humanism — the Great Human Detective Story'
at £10 including p&p.

Number of copies ..... I enclose payment of £ .....

Name .....

Address .....

.....

..... Tel. No. .....

I would also like to receive the free Teaching Notes which accompany the video ☐

Name of school/educational institute/group

.....

The British Humanist Association acknowledges with thanks the help given by Scotch UK, Maxell UK, and TDK UK.